Space & Naval Warfare Systems Center Awards Contract

SAN DIEGO -- Hughes Aircraft Company of Fullerton Calif., is awarded a $23,052,468 cost-plus-fixed-fee Foreign Military Sales contract for the Japanese Auxillary Ocean Surveillance System. Hughes will perform a block upgrade of the ship and shore electronics including installations on the Japan Maritime Self Defense Force Hibiki-class ocean surveillance ships Hibiki and Harima, and installation of block upgrade capability and upgrade of shore-based spare shipboard equipment at the Anti-Submarine Warfare Center in Yokosuka, Japan. The work will be performed in Fullerton, Calif. (90 percent), and Yokosuka, Japan (10 percent), and is expected to be completed in September 2001. Contract funds will not expire at the end of the current fiscal year. Funds of $7,569,233 have been initially obligated with four option years in the contract. This contract was not competitively procured with one proposal solicited and one offer received. Hughes is the contractor for a similar US Navy program. The Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command, San Diego is the contracting activity (N00039-97-C-0074).
